WHITE CITY BAND

DRAWS BIG CROWD

Several hundred people enjoyed the concert given by the Port Edwards band at the school house in that village last Wednesday night. From the time the curtain went up and Director Ellis raised his baton for the opening number until the audience rose at the playing of the Star Spangled Banner the listeners displayed unusual interest and were very hearty in their applause.

The band numbers were uniformly excellent, and the two soloists, members of the band, Mr. Rosebush's baritone solo and Mr. Peterson's cornet solo, met with instant approval of the audience, and it was necessary for them to respond to an encore. The songs, "The American March" and the ever popular "Over there" were played better than ever heard before.

After the intermission, Mr. Jantz sang "Smiles" as compiled by the band. This and his vocal solo "Happy Days" made a contribution to the program, any audience would enjoy. The rendition of the "Happy Days" song was made happier by the delightful accompaniment by Mrs. Nettie B. Wegg with the violin and Miss Bernice Eggert at the piano.

Mrs. Rosebush pleased every hearer, as was evidenced by the warm attention to her "I Treasured" piano solo, and her encore was equally pleasing.

Perhaps the star performer was Virginia Whitlsey, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Whitlsey. Her bowing and fingering were worthy of a more mature performer, and her rendition of the delightful "Minuet in G" was noted perfect.

Mrs. Morrison's rendition of "The Serenade" pleased her smallest admirer and the audience enthusiastically applauded until she responded with the gracious encore. "The Kiss" and an English war song.

When Miss Florence Mathews appeared, and began her violin solo, "Mazurka," the audience realized in her confident playing the evidence of great promise. Her accompanist, Miss Vio Ramstead, performed her difficult task with the ease that comes with confidence.

After such a long program, the reader's task was not an easy one, yet Natalie Dennis held the crowd irrepressible youngsters with "The Critical Situation" and when she responded with the short poem about the boy with "Nut Brown Patch" they again voiced their approval.

Taken altogether the evening was a very pleasant one for the audience and a larger attendance is expected at the future events of this nature.

HIGH SCHOOL OPERETTA

WAS PLEASANT SUCCESS

Playing before capacity houses on Friday and Saturday nights of last week, the high school operetta, "Prince Charming" was one of the most successful musical plays of its kind ever presented in this city. The parts were portrayed by the young people of the high school who showed exceptional talent and training.

The play was put on under the direction of Miss Boss Bradford and Miss Weltman, both capably trained in this sort of work. The theme of the play was based on St. Valentine's Day, this being the day it was played on, and the settings and costumes were typical of the occasion.

The cast of characters follows:

St. Valentine, Helen Mickelson
Prince Charming, Dorothy Norlington
Cupid, Janet Riley
Queen of Hearts, Ruth Kellner
Jack, Carol Boorman
Jill, Margaret McGlynn
Maid Molly, Marion Matthews
Father, Irene Sullivan
Mother, Helen Mickelson
Nanette (French Maid), Alice Damon
Coquette (A fairy), Lila Billmeyer
Sally, Elizabeth Phillips
Jane, Gertrude Prosser
Faries, Valentines, Tart Maids, Reception Girls, Roses, Violets, Butterflies, etc.

The high school orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

UNDER STATE SUPERVISION

To Liberty Bond Holders

It has been reported that many holders of small denomination Liberty Bonds in need of ready money are selling these securities at anywhere up to 25 per cent discount.

Perhaps these patriotic investors do not know that these bonds are bought and sold daily on the N. Y. Stock Exchange, and that they can always be sold at close their face value.

Do not part with your bonds unless you positively must. If money needs be raised use them as collateral for a loan. If you are obliged to sell see that you get full market value for them—sharpers are at work.
